How to change your Dialup Number in Windows 2000

1. Click the "Start" button in the lower left corner of your screen

2. Click on the "Settings" item in the menu

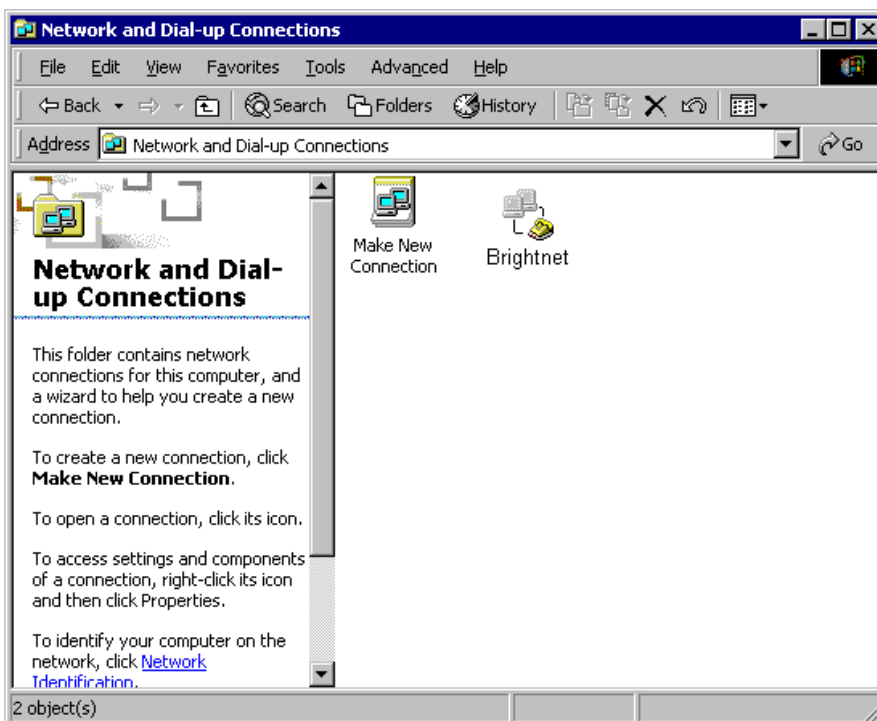

3. Click on "Control Panel"

4. Double Click on the "Network and Dial-up Connections" icon

5. You should now see a screen that looks similar to this one.

6. Click your RIGHT mouse button on the "Brightnet" (or "bnin.net") icon - VERY IMPORTANT: Use the Right button, not the left button. Click once only, do not double-click. Failure to perform this step correctly results only in a temporary change to your configuration. Select the "Properties" option from the pop-up menu that appears. If you do not see a pop-up menu with a properties option, you have double-clicked the icon. Try again using the right mouse button.

7. Enter the new telephone number in the place provided, and turn off the "Use dialing rules" option if it is selected. Once you have finished entering the new number and have checked that it is correct, click on the "OK" Button. Close the "Network and Dial Up Connections" Screen. (Click the "X" button) You should now be able to connect to the internet as normal, with the new connection number. You have now completed this procedure.
